Dear CCC Cable Customers,

To help eliminate some confusion, here are some guidelines to note regarding our digital transition, and what TV sets are capable of receiving our new HD channels without a converter. Also, below are the channels that will be available effective August 31, 2105, all channels are provided in a 'QAM' digital/HD format.

To receive our cable without a converter, your tv will need to be equipped with a QAM digital tuner to receive the channels. Older analog televisions are no longer compatible with CCC's Cable TV system without a converter. Most televisions sold today are digital/QAM compliant, however less expensive or budget televisions may not be. To find out if your television has a QAM tuner, check the specifications in your owner's manual, or visit the manufacturer's website.

What is a QAM tuner and how do I know if my TV has one?

A QAM tuner allows your TV to tune to digital or HD channels. Most, but not all, TV's that were made after 2006 have a QAM tuner built in.

- You can search online by make/model of your TV or reference your TV's owner's manual for specific model information related to what type of tuner is present in your TV.
- An example of what the manual may say if the TV has a QAM tuner: "Built in digital tuner (ATSC/Clear QAM)", or "NTSC/QAM"
- Additionally, if your TV remote has the (.) or (-) symbol button for easy tuning or is able to display channels such as 7.1 or 7-1, your TV likely has a QAM tuner.
- An example of what the manual may say if the TV does NOT have a QAM tuner: "ATSC / NTSC Tuner" (there will be no mention of QAM)

Televisions that, depending on model, may be missing the QAM tuner:

- Apex
- Dynex
- Element
- Haier
- Seiki
- Sylvania
- RCA
- Westinghouse
